Good Afternoon

Today is Tuesday, March 16, 1982, the 75th day of the year. There are 290 days remaining in 1982.

Tomorrow's weather will bring partly cloudy skies, with the rain tapering off. Complete weather, A-2.

Inside the Tribune

Nation/World	A	Lifestyle	C
Eastbay	B	Sports/Business	D
Action Line	C-5	Funerals	B-2
Astrology	B-5	Games	B-5
Classified	B-7	Ann Landers	C-2
Comics	B-6	Dave Newhouse	D-1
Commentary	A-9	Robin Orr	C-2
Editorials	A-8	Restaurants	C-7
Entertainment	B-4	Television	C-9
Bill Fisel	C-3	Weather	A-2

Vol. 109-75 (4 Sections) ★★★★

Afghan refugee who lives in Richmond thanked the president. B-1.

Headlines at a Glance

BERKELEY

ALBANY WOMAN who committed suicide under a BART train had a history of psychiatric treatment, the coroner says. B-1.

MARTINEZ

STEPMOTHER CONVICTED of second-degree murder in the 'spanking' death of a 4-year-old girl. B-1.

EASTBAY

KAISER HOSPITAL clerks are back on the job after their month-long strike ends with a 20 percent raise. B-1.

SAN FRANCISCO

MILITARY ACADEMY founder is under investigation for possible bank fraud, FBI says. B-1

BAY AREA

MILPITAS TEEN is ordered to stand trial for raping and murdering a classmate, then displaying the body to friends. B-2.

WALKIE TALKIE bandit in San Mateo gets $3,400 from two bank night depositors, ordering them to give up the cash without being seen. B-2.

STATE

JOHN BELUSHI spent his last night in a revelry of drinking and narcotics, the coroner says. A-5.

SUPREME COURT will decide if a teachers' union can sue nonmembers for refusing to pay the equivalent of dues. B-1.

NATION

WORLD TENSIONS are sometimes heightened by U.N. actions, a group of prominent Americans contends. A-6.

TRIBUNE/TODAY CIRCULATION 213,045 Audit Bureau of Circulation

A Gannett Newspaper

Oakland Tribune

GREATER OAKLAND EDITION

Tuesday, March 16, 1982/Oakland, California

Home delivery $8 a month

Brezhnev freezes missiles

Jury foreowman Barbara Connett (left) delivers guilty verdict in trial of Claus von Bulow. AP

Deployment halted on European border

Associated Press

MOSCOW — President Leonid I. Brezhnev today announced a freeze on deployment of medium-range nuclear missiles in the western part of the Soviet Union.

But he warned of "retaliatory steps" if no progress is made at Soviet-American talks on arms limitations.

Brezhnev's announcement was quickly rejected by the Reagan administration as a trick to maintain Soviet arms superiority.

Brezhnev also said the Soviet Union plans to pull back a "certain number" of the medium-range missiles it already has deployed in the part of the Soviet Union west of the Urals, considered the European part of Russia.

Brezhnev said the freeze would remain in effect until Soviet and U.S. negotiators in Geneva — who today recessed their talks to May 20 — reach agreement to limit the deployment of medium-range missiles in Europe, or until the United States begins "practical measures to deploy" Pershing 2 and cruise missiles in Western Europe.

Brezhnev said failure to reach agreement on medium-range nuclear missiles would be "a real threat to our country and its allies by the United States." "This would compel us to take retaliatory steps that would put the other side, including the United States itself, in an analagous position," he said.

He did not elaborate on the "retaliatory steps," but analysts interpreted the statement to mean the Soviets would station missiles near Western borders.

In Bonn, the West German government said of the Brezhnev announcement: "Whether this is

See MISSILES, Back Page

Arms freeze not enough — Reagan

By James Gerstenzang
Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY — President Reagan said today that a freeze on nuclear missile deployment in Europe would lock in a 300 to zero Soviet advantage, and challenged Leonid I. Brezhnev to "join in real arms reduction" instead.

He said the Soviet president's announcement of a moratorium on deployment of medium-range nuclear missiles in Europe "simply isn't good enough because it doesn't go far enough."

Reagan told the Oklahoma Legislature that if Brezhnev is serious about arms control, he will accept the U.S. offer to refrain from missile deployment in exchange for Soviet agreement "to dismantle what they have."

Reagan, on the road in behalf of his economic and federalism proposals, began his speech in Oklahoma City by demanding more than Brezhnev offered.

He said the Soviet Union now has 300 SS-20 missiles with 900 warheads, deployed and capable of hitting targets anywhere in Western Europe. NATO, he said, has "zero land-based missiles" that can hit the Soviet Union.

Furthermore, Reagan said, Brezhnev did not mention that the Soviet missiles are mobile, so that it doesn't make any difference where they are based. He said they could be moved to the East and still would be within

See REAGAN, Back Page

Von Bulow is guilty of trying to kill wife

By Jeff Barnard
Associated Press

NEWPORT, R.I. — A jury today found socialite Claus C. von Bulow guilty of twice trying to murder his heiress wife with insulin injections that plunged her into an irreversible coma.

Von Bulow, 55, could be sentenced to 40 years in prison, but he was allowed to remain free on $100,000 bond pending an April 2 hearing.

Gasps were audible in the courtroom, packed with reporters and relatives of the victim, as jury foreowoman Barbara Connett announced the two verdicts, which the seven-man, five-woman jury reached after deliberating for 36 hours over six days.

The tall, balding defendant, seated at the defense table with hands folded in front him, gazed straight ahead with a worried frown, but otherwise maintained the stoic poise he displayed throughout the nine-week trial.

Superior Court Judge Thomas H. Needham continued bond for the Danish-born financial consultant and set April 2 to hear a defense motion for a new trial. No date was set for sentencing.

Von Bulow called his teen-age daughter, Cosima, immediately after the verdict and left the courthouse to cheers and applause as spectators chanted "Free Claus, Free Claus." His cab, escorted by sheriff's deputies in cruisers, cut a path through the crowd back to his hotel.

Claus von Bulow
He listens to verdict

See VON BULOW, Back Page

Natural gas rates to go up 10 pct.

By Carol Benfell
Tribune Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO — Rates for natural gas customers of Pacific Gas & Electric Co. will go up about 10 percent between April and July this year as a result of federal deregulation of natural gas prices, Public Utilities Commission president John Bryson said today.

And because natural gas is also used to fuel electric generators, PG&E electricity customers will get only about a $200 million reduction instead of a $400 to $500 million reduction that was expected because of the good hydroelectric power year, PUC staff member William Ahearne told reporters.

The figures are the first "ball park estimates" of what will happen to gas and electric rates since the PUC granted the mammoth $909 million rate increase to PG&E on Dec. 30.

They reflect $325 million in increases granted by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to El Paso Natural Gas Co. and Transwestern Pipeline Co., major suppliers of natural gas to California.

The new prices went into effect Feb. 28, and PG&E has asked for an additional $200 million to reimburse the utility for

See PG&E, Back Page

Nicaragua declares emergency

By Karen DeYoung
Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Nicaragua declared a nationwide state of emergency in response to what it said was a U.S.-sponsored attack that blew up two bridges Sunday near the Honduran border.

Daniel Ortega, a leader of the Sandinista National Liberation Front and coordinator of the three-member ruling junta, said in a broadcast communique that all constitutional rights had been suspended for an initial 30 days.

Earlier Monday the Nicaraguan Embassy here released a statement blaming the explosions on what it called U.S. covert plans to "hurt Nicaragua and destabilize our government." One bridge was destroyed and another seriously damaged by the attacks, according to the statement.

Foreign Minister Miguel D'Escoto reached by telephone in Managua, said, "We cannot discard the possibility of this being only the beginning of what could be an imminent invasion."

A State Department spokeswoman said there would be no immediate comment on the Nicaraguan charge.

Other officials in Managua said that the state of emergency would impose measures to restrict travel within the country as well as restrictions on broadcast and print media.

"We will keep working, but everybody knows we are working under the knowledge that we may have to be mobilized," said Rita Delia Casco, director of

See NICARAGUA, Back Page

Heublein announces plan to aid black Americans

By Rick Hampson
Associated Press

NEW YORK — Heublein Inc., owner of the Kentucky Fried Chicken franchises, announced today it will spend about $180 million over five years to help blacks.

Hicks B. Waldron, president of Heublein, described the program as "good business" and insisted it was not prompted by threats of a boycott by Operation PUSH, headed by the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

However, Waldron conceded that "Heublein did not select Operation PUSH. Operation PUSH selected Heublein."

Jackson, who appeared with Waldron at a news conference here, said, "It was an amicable relationship because they (Heublein) can count."

Jackson said his civil rights

See HEUBLEIN, Back Page

Defense puts blame on Corona's brother

By Pamela Abouzeid
Tribune Staff Writer

HAYWARD — Juan Corona is on trial for the murders, but his defense attorney says it is far more likely that Corona's homosexual brother, Natividad, killed 25 farmworkers whose bodies were found buried outside Yuba City in 1971.

Natividad Corona reportedly died in Mexico several years ago of syphilis and diabetes.

"I do not claim that there is in existence evidence that would convict Natividad of one or more of these murders," Terence Hallinan said in opening statements to the Alameda County Superior Court jury on Monday.

See CORONA, Back Page

Raiders' overture to Oakland reported

By Ed Schoenfeld
Tribune Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — The Raiders have put out a feeler to the Oakland Coliseum board of directors.

The word was relayed to Oakland by George Vukasin, a Coliseum director.

"Vukasin told us the Raiders said they want the stadium increased to 63,000 seats, 100 new luxury suites, and $10 million in damages, among other things," Jack Maltester, the Oakland Coliseum president, said Monday from San Leandro in response to an Oakland Tribune/Eastbay TODAY inquiry.

"Vukasin said the Raiders talked about the possibility of a 15-year lease," Maltester added.

Maltester said nothing has been done about the Raiders' "feeler," as he described Vukasin's statement to the board several weeks ago.

"At the request of the board, I wrote a personal letter to Al Davis (the Raiders' managing general partner) a month ago in which I suggested we get together and discuss a solution, and I still haven't heard from him."

The $10 million in damages is "out of the question," Maltester declared.

"How could we pay that with taxpayers' money?" he asked.

Maltester said Vukasin did not identify the representative of the Raiders who contacted him. Vukasin was not available for comment.

Al LoCasale, the Raiders' executive assistant, denied the Raiders are putting out "feelers" for a compromise settlement.

"I chit chat with George Vukasin and other members of the Coliseum on a regular basis, but there have been no 'feelers' put out by the Raiders organization," LoCasale said. "Perhaps this information comes from something said in a social context.

"In any case, the information did not come from me, and I'm confident it didn't come from Al Davis," LoCasale continued.

Joseph L. Alioto, the Raiders' chief counsel in the $213 million antitrust suit brought

See RAIDERS, Page A-2

■ Pete Rozelle has a plan for Oakland, D-1.