Classic remade

'Lord of Flies' lands in theaters

See Weekend!, B-1

Can Gorbachev lead U.S.S.R. to recovery?

See News, A-9

THE TRIBUNE

Metro Final

GOLDEN GATE FIELDS HANDICAP

Oakland, California — Friday, March 16, 1990 — 25 cents

INSIDE

ON THE BOARDWALK
Santa Cruz may have been battered by the quake, but its many tourist attractions still provide plenty of pleasure..... Weekend!, B-1

'OLD 98' DIES
One-time Michigan football star Tom Harmon dies at the age of 70... Sports, E-1

NEW THREAT
Islamic Jihad, the group claiming to hold several American hostages, makes a new threat on their lives..... News, A-9

FLIGHT FIGHT
A survey shows businesses around the Coliseum are unhappy with their surroundings... Business, C-1

SOUP-ER FOOD
Our reviewer finds a soup and sandwich shop with a difference in Point Richmond..... Weekend!, B-1

PARK IN PERIL
Five months after the quake ripped it apart, Oakland's only bay-side park is still closed..... Local, F-1

WEATHER

SUNNY
Mostly sunny today. Warm with highs in the 60s to low 80s. Fair tonight..... A-14

INDEX

Autos	D-1
Bridge	E-10
Business	C-1
Classified	D-5
Comics	E-10, E-11
Commentary	A-13
Crossword	E-10
Editorials	A-12
Funerals	D-13
Ann Landers	E-11
Local	F-1
Movies	B-8
Cliff Pletschet	C-1
Monte Poole	E-1
Sports	E-1
Television	B-12
Weekend!	B-1
William Wong	A-13

TOMORROW

The Tribune salutes the top girls in East-bay high school sports..... In Sports

CALL THE TRIBUNE:
645-2000

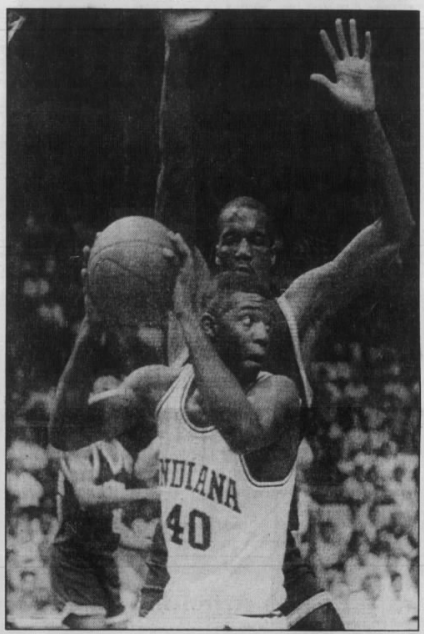
Vol. 117-75

© The Tribune (All rights reserved)

10

CALIFORNIA 65, INDIANA 63

CAL STUNS HOOSIERS



The Associated Press

Brian Hendrick of Cal guards Indiana's Calbert Cheaney in NCAA first-round game.

2 free throws clinch Bears' NCAA win

By The Tribune news services

THE UNIVERSITY of California Bears celebrated their first appearance in the NCAA championship tournament since 1960 last night by upsetting Indiana University on two free throws with just three seconds to play.

Senior guard Keith Smith calmly sank the shots to give Cal a 65-63 victory in the first-round game at Hartford, Conn.

California's reward is a matchup with top-seeded and third-ranked Connecticut in the second round tomorrow.

The Bears led for much of the game but Indiana, always one of college basketball's top teams, tied the contest with 13 seconds to play.

Cal placed its hopes in the hands of Smith, one of only two seniors on the squad. He drove the lane with six seconds left but was fouled to set up the winning free throws.

Smith led California with 19 points, while center Brian Hendrick had 13.

For the story, see Sports, Page E-1.

INSIDE: Complete NCAA tournament results, E-1, E-3

Israel votes to dissolve government

By Joel Brinkley
The New York Times

JERUSALEM — The Israeli Parliament dissolved the nation's government yesterday, the first time that has ever occurred, over Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir's refusal to accept terms for starting Israeli-Palestinian peace talks that were suggested by the United States.

The vote was 60-55. Five members of the Orthodox Shas Party decided to abstain and bring the government down after Shamir declined to accept the party's last-minute compromise.

The compromise would have required Shamir to accept the proposal put forth by U.S. Secretary of State James A. Baker III as a way of getting Shamir's own plan for negotiations between Israelis and Palestinians on the status of the occupied territories under way.

When the vote had concluded, Shamir braved a strained smile as the speaker of Parliament, Dov Shilansky, a member of Shamir's party, declared, "I determine that the motion of no faith in the prime minister for damaging the peace process has been accepted."

See PEACE, Page A-2

Ex-state senator indicted in sting

By James W. Sweeney
Los Angeles Daily News

SACRAMENTO — Paul B. Carpenter, a member of the Board of Equalization and a former state senator from Los Angeles, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy, extortion and racketeering.

If Carpenter is convicted on all charges, he faces up to 80 years in prison and fines of up to $750,000, officials said.

He is the second state elected official to face charges stemming from a continuing U.S. Justice Department investigation of political corruption in the California Legislature. Joseph B. Montoya resigned from the state Senate after being convicted of seven counts of extortion and racketeering.

Carpenter, a Democrat, denied any wrongdoing.

"The spurious charges by the Justice Department are as much an insult to those who know and who have worked with me in the Senate as they are to myself," Carpenter said in a statement issued by his office.

Yesterday's four-count indictment says Carpenter extorted $20,000 from undercover FBI agents posing as businessmen and he tried to extort campaign

See INDICTED, Back Page

Fast-food shops cited in child-labor sweep

By Karen Ball
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A surprise nationwide sweep of fast-food restaurants and other businesses found 7,000 teenagers employed for too many hours or in dangerous jobs in violation of child-labor laws, Labor Secretary Elizabeth Dole said yesterday.

The three-day investigation, called "Operation Child Watch," is expected to result in more than $1.8 million in civil fines against businesses, Dole said. Fines totaling $2.7 million were assessed during all of 1989.

In California, authorities found 534 alleged violations - 44 percent of them from four Bay Area counties including Alameda and Contra Costa, officials said.

The majority of the allegations nationwide involved firms in which 14- and 15-year-olds worked more hours or later at night during the school week than allowed under federal law, said William Brooks, an assistant labor secretary.

But there were also more than 900 youngsters, mostly 16- and

See CHILD, Back Page

'Miss Perestroika' mugs for Dreyer's new yogurt

By Michael Collier
The Tribune

SAN FRANCISCO — She walks like Miss America, dresses like Miss America, and certainly knows how to mug for the cameras like a Miss America.

But the Russian accent is a dead giveaway.

She's Yulia Sukhanova, the first-ever Soviet beauty queen and yet another symbol of how much her country has changed under the leadership of Mikhail Gorbachev.

Her goals are pretty much the same as any American beauty queen's — do some modeling, shoot some commercials, make a lot of money.

"I still can't believe it," the giddy 17-year-old from Moscow declared yesterday at a press conference announcing her first U.S. contract, with Oakland-based Dreyer's Ice Cream.

Miss U.S.S.R., who beat 76 other contestants in the first Soviet beauty pageant last May, has been chosen as an ad spokeswoman for Dreyer's new frozen yogurt. The commercials are being filmed in San Francisco this week.

"She's epitomizes what we were looking for; she's young, fit and very lively," said John Sörnmerville, Dreyer's director of marketing.

And dressed to kill — from a ruby necklace to black miniskirt to gold-sequined high-heeled shoes. Lots of makeup, too.

With television cameras whir-

See DREYER'S, Back Page

By Reginald Pearman/The Tribune

Yulia Sukhanova, Miss U.S.S.R., savors a taste.

Raider foes turn to ballot, lobbying

By Judy Ronningen
The Tribune

Opponents of Oakland's offer to the Raiders are organizing a drive to put it on the ballot, as well as lobbying city council members to change their votes next Tuesday.

Oakland attorney Frank Russo said several opponents of the Raiders offer asked him to chair a referendum committee, which will form this weekend.

Attention also is focusing on Tuesday's city council meeting, where a final vote is set on the Raiders' lease agreement. Opponents hope to convince at least one council member to change his or her vote, upsetting the 5-3 majority.

"We will be encouraging the city council to do what's proper," Russo said.

"If they don't, I believe we're going ahead with a referendum. Unless I am advised (differently) by other attorneys, then that is the case."

City Attorney Jayne Williams says the council vote cannot be upset by a referendum, but several

See RAIDERS, Back Page