SUNDAY
MARCH 16, 2008

Saving Minneapolis
How a mill town became an urban success story
TRAVEL

Trying to land the big one
Foreclosure activists take on nation's biggest lender
BUSINESS

Know the name of our 2nd president?
Now get to know John Adams up close
LIVING

Oakland Tribune
oaklandtribune.com | Serving Oakland For 134 Years | $1.50

Perfect ending for Mack

McCLYMONDS center Frank Otis drives to the basket through a bevy of Dominguez High defenders in the second quarter of Saturday's Division I state final. Mack capped a perfect season by blasting Dominguez 73-54.
D. ROSS CAMERON — Staff

Team caps undefeated season with state title

Coach Moe is going out with serious momentum. McClymonds High gave Dwight Nathaniel's retirement present for the ages Saturday night.

Playing intense and quick but perhaps more importantly smart and fearless basketball imparted to them by their outgoing 51-year-old coach, the Warriors completed a dream unbeaten season at Arco Arena with a stunning 73-54 victory over Dominguez of Compton in the CIF Division I boys championship.

McClymonds has a glittering basketball legacy that dates back to the Bill Russell and Paul Silas days in the 1950s, but five decades later, this Warriors team accomplished some-

Carl STEWARD
cstewart@bayarenewsgroup.com

Please see MACK, News 14

Inside:

BERKELEY GIRLS: Jackets stung by Poly-Long Beach in title game. Sports

A LOOK BACK: See images from Macks' magical season. News 16-17

ALISON YIN — Staff
DAMON POWELL (center) of McClymonds High reacts in celebration after dunking against Dominguez High on Saturday.

OVER... there????

KARL MONDON — Staff photos
STAFF SGT. JASON ECK, the Army's recruiting officer for Marin County, walks the corridors of Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo (above). Marin County has one of the lowest recruitment rates in the country. Tracy High School senior Myles Neil-Weber (top photo) talks with Cpl. James McClelland (center) and Staff Sgt. Craig Barringer.

YEARS IN IRAQ

First in a two-part series

By Dogen Hannah | STAFF WRITER

STAFF SGT. JASON ECK has been flipped off, cussed at and told to get out of town for doing his job.

The abuse hasn't deterred the two-tour Iraq war veteran from donning his uniform, sliding behind the wheel of his government-issued Chevy Malibu and hitting the road almost daily in search of new soldiers.

Still, as a recruiter, he faces a daunting task.

Please see ARMY, News 11

Veterans of Iraq and Afghanistan come home to fight yet another battle: Trying to find young men and women to replace them. The Bay Area has the nation's second-lowest rate of military enlistment, behind only New York.

Bicyclists remember pair killed

■ About 1,000 ride Saturday in memory of accident victims

By Joe Rodriguez
STAFF WRITER

As hundreds gathered on a blustery Saturday to ride in memory of her daughter and another cyclist killed last Sunday, Karen Sue Clarkson straddled a shiny, ultra-light racing bike, a lithe blend of power and beauty.

"This was her favorite bike," Clarkson said, looking down at the crankshaft to apologize for a minor adjustment of the gleaming machine made on her behalf. "But they had to put on some baby pedals for me."

A few minutes later, the parking lot at Foothill College in Los Altos Hills brimmed with 1,000 or so avid cyclists on all manner of bicycles from throughout the Bay Area.

They came to mourn Kristy Gough, Clarkson's 30-year-old daughter, and Matt Peterson, 29, who died March 9 when a sheriff's deputy driving a patrol car crossed a double-yellow line and ran

Please see RIDE, News 14

DAVID M. BARREDA — MediaNews staff
A CYCLIST CARRIES lilies on her back during a memorial bike ride in Cupertino on Saturday. The ride was in memory of Kristy Gough and Matt Peterson, two teammates killed on Stevens Creek Canyon Road last Sunday while on a training ride.

INSIDE

Comics ..... Insert
Legals ..... Class 2
Movies ..... Living 4
Nation/World ..... News 9
Obituaries ..... News 8
Opinion ..... News 15
Scores ..... Sports 11
TV ..... Living 6
Wonderword ..... Living 8

Forecast
Sunny, wind
Highs: lower 60s
Lows: mid-40s
Details on Sports 12